LOCAL MOTORIST ESCAPES TRIAL IN NEWTOWN TRIBUNAL

Bridgeporter Arrested by Officers After He Had Got Out of Their Town.

(Special to The Farmer.)

Newtown, Sept. 15.—Special Constables Greenman and Mount patrolling the state road at Toll Gate Hill in the interest of the board of health, have been greatly hampered in their work by the refusal of motorists to halt their cars or lessen speed for the inspection. Both decided to arrest the very next violator of the speed laws and thus make a salutary example. They accordingly measured a course of a few rods on the level at the foot of the hill stationing themselves at opposite ends of the line with stop watches in hand. With signals agreed upon, and awaited for violators of the speed laws. Yesterday their opportunity came. A Bridgeporter motorist came down Toll Gate Hill at full speed. The sleuths were ready, the signals flashed and into the road the two officers sprang. A comparison of watches showed a speed upwards of 35 miles an hour. Complaint was made to Grand Juror Gannon of the borough. He examined the man-trap, saw that the data of the officers corresponded and signed the complaint. The accused appeared in Justice P. H. McCarthy's court, Thursday afternoon, but he was accompanied by a well known attorney of Bridgeport. It looked like a dead-open-and-shut for the state from the start. There could be no gainsaying the testimony of the officers armed with the diagram of their measured course and the tally of their time-pieces.

"Where is this course, north or south of the Old Toll Gate?" suavely asked the attorney for the defense of the main state witness. "South, below," was the unhesitating response. "Are these men officers of the town of Monroe?" enquired the attorney. "No," was the hesitating response. "Then, will you kindly explain to this court by what authority they made an arrest in that town?"

The court was in an uproar at once, the grand juror gave one look at the official map of Newtown hanging on the wall, and hung his head dejectedly. The attorney grew wroth and began to harangue on the reprehensible conduct of the special constables, when the justice raised his hand in token of peace. He would order a nolle entered in the court records at once and dismissed the case. The attorney suggested that an apology from the officials was due his client, but none was given, for by this time the lucky motorist had reached the street and was cranking his machine. Accused and counsel departed immediately for Bridgeport, while the spectators pondered over the clever check-mate in the legal game just witnessed by them. Want of jurisdiction did the trick.

The Bridgeport Hydraulic Co. has purchased the farm property of Jacob Beck of Hopewell district of about 100 acres. This purchase is in line with the company's sanitary policy of getting possession of all land on both sides of the streams feeding its water supply at Hemlock lake and Easton reservoir. GIGANTIC PLOT TO CHEAT U. S. BANKS FOILED

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Details of what is said to have been an elaborate plot to swindle 17 banks in the United States out of an amount estimated at between $300,000 and $500,000, were made public here today. At the same time it was announced that a detective would leave Chicago for Gottenburg, Sweden, armed with extradition papers for

Karl Von Bardi, wanted in connection with the alleged plot.

Von Bardi, according to the Swedish consul here, has been in a Gottenburg jail since last May when he was captured through a wireless message on a charge of having forged checks for $3,000 in the name of a local varnish manufacturing company. Although the Swedish authorities have refused to extradite him, they have also refused to release him from jail.

According to the police Von Bardi assumed in Chicago the name of a French count. Here and in other American cities he worked for five years in one bank after another, familiarizing himself, it is said, with the bank officials' signatures and gathering a supply of stationery and blank forms.

BARGES IN COLLISION WITH STEAMER IN FOG

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Sept. 15.—Two light barges in tow of the tug George S. Creek from Boston to Philadelphia were in collision with the steamer Gloucester, from Baltimore to Boston, during a fog in Vineyard Sound early today. One of the barges was beached on Naushon Island to prevent its sinking after it was found to be leaking badly from a hole below the waterline. The other was anchored in Tarpaulin Cove.

The Gloucester, apparently undamaged, proceeded on its voyage.
